His statements were made as he launched public hearings on President Eisenhower's sweeping military reorganization plan. SHRA Proposes Lake on Lusk Creek Canyon

Resolution Passed at Meeting Held at Golconda

Action has been started toward securing a vast lake on Lusk Creek Canyon in Pope County.

The Shawnee Hills Recreation Association, meeting Monday night at Golconda, unanimously passed a resolution presented by George Scherrer of Shawneetown which proposed such a lake by the erection of a dam at the site.

A lake created by this dam would have a pool area of 3,600 acres, a storage capacity of 96,000 acre-feet or 31,281 million gallons, and a watershed area of 81 square miles. Much of the proposed lake area is on Forest Service land.

Mr. Scherrer pointed out that the chief advantage of the financing for such a lake, as well as for a proposed primary road from Equality south through the Garden of the Gods area is that it would not require local funds.

The SHRA meeting was held at the American Legion hall near Golconda with President Ray Mitten-dorf of Metropolis presiding.

Irvin Peithman of Southern Illinois University gave an interesting and colorful slide lecture on his visit with the Florida Seminole Indians.

President Mitten-dorf read a letter from the Pope County Craft Center explaining its project and inviting co-operation.

Louis Aaron of Harrisburg told of the stand the Eldorado Art Center will have on Route 45 this summer to sell their crafts.

Wayne Gidcum, president of the Saline county unit, displayed an attractive rear window decal advertising SHRA. It was voted to buy 1,000 at $87 per 1,000.

William Farley of Harrisburg displayed colored pictures of southern Illinois scenes similar to those which will be made on postcards. He also told of the auto tours which will be explained in detail later.

To Clean Up Red Cross Fund Drive Thursday

Harold Parker and Steve Starkey, Red Cross Fund Drive chairman for Harrisburg township, have announced that there will be a "clean-up" campaign late Thursday afternoon as so many residents have not been contacted after repeated calls by the street chairman.

This final drive will be conducted by members of Theta Rho Rebekah lodge and by the Future Home Makers from the Harrisburg Township high school. The Theta Rho members are under the direction of Mrs. George Chrisman and the Future Home Makers are under the direction of Mrs. Marshall Cotran.

The group will start from the north side of the court house at 4:30 p. m. A large enough group of volunteers will be working to get all contacts made in a few hours.

The total collected in Harrisburg to date is $1,972.48 which is not adequate.

Everyone should remember that the Red Cross chapter can charge for nothing except text books used in the training courses. Every program carried on by the local chapter, including verifications of emergency leaves for servicemen which go by electrical communications, the county blood program, training in first aid and home nursing, and the disaster program, must be supported by donations.

Funeral Services to Be Held in Iowa City Thursday for Bucky O'Connor

Former Coach At HTHS Killed in Auto-Truck Crash

Funeral services for Frank (Bucky) O'Connor, 44, head basketball coach at the University of Iowa who started his coaching career at Harrisburg Township high school, will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the First Methodist church in Iowa City with burial in Memory Gardens Cemetery.

The warm and personable coach was killed Tuesday in an auto-truck crash. He died instantly when his car skidded into the path of a semi-trailer truck laden with cement sewer tile near Waterloo, Iowa, and was demolished.

O'Connor came to Harrisburg in the fall of 1938 as an assistant to Ken Hoeck, who was starting his first year here as athletic director and head coach. The young O'Connor, who was sharp and aggressive but very friendly and likable, had been a varsity forward for three years at Drake University, graduating in the spring of 1938.

Had Good Year
O'Connor was here but one school year, returning to Iowa to coach at Boone but Harrisburg had one of its best years in sports during the 1938-39 school term. The Hoeck-O'Connor-coached football team won eight and lost none, with only 16 points scored against it during the season. The basketball team had a 9-3 conference record and won the regional meet before bowing to Zeigler in the sectional at Johnston City.

Hoeck stayed on at Harrisburg high and the next year he brought to Harrisburg as his assistant, Francis Cretzmeier, also a young Drake graduate, who now is head track coach at the University of Iowa.

During his coaching career after leaving Harrisburg, O'Connor spent a four-year hitch in the Army Air Force during World War II.

Following the crash, O'Connor's body was taken to the Oathout funeral home in Iowa City to lie in state from noon today until noon Thursday. The funeral at the Methodist church will be by the Rev. Roy Wingate, pastor of the First English Lutheran Church of which O'Connor was a member.

The funeral was moved to the Methodist church because it will accommodate more people.

Won Two Big Ten Titles
O'Connor was survived by his widow, the former Jane Westberg of Boone, Iowa, and one daughter, Kathleen Jane, 13. The family asked that flowers be omitted, suggesting that contributions to a memorial scholarship fund would be welcomed.

He took over as head basketball coach in the spring of 1951 after serving as an assistant since 1948 under Lawrence Harrison and Rolie Williams.

It was in 1954 that he started an amazing streak which brought Iowa two Big Ten titles and its first trip to the national championships.

O'Connor's Hawkeye teams won 108 games and lost 54 in seven years, with a Big Ten mark of 66 victories and 36 defeats.

The driver of the truck which figured in the crash, who was only slightly injured, told authorities O'Connor's car "went into a slide" when the coach hit the brakes in an apparent attempt to avoid a flock of guinea hens crossing the highway.

Order Return of Deported Finn

HELSINKI, Finland (UP)—William Heikkila, a one-armed Finnish ex-Communist who was deported from San Francisco last week, waited jubilantly here today for his return ticket to the United States.

Heikkila, 52, was overjoyed when he was told U. S. authorities had decided they were wrong to deport him so swiftly because of his past Communist associations.

"This is the most wonderful thing that ever happened to me in my life," he said.

The deported Finn arrived here by air Tuesday night, hatless, coatless and without baggage in freezing weather. He checked in at a hotel while he pondered his future in a strange country whose language he does not speak. He was born in Finland but left the country at the age of 10 weeks.

In San Francisco his wife, Phyllis, 38, said she was "elated" at news her husband would be returned to San Francisco. Her eyes were heavy with fatigue but she smiled to express her joy.

Heikkila talked to her by telephone Tuesday from Helsinki, the first time he had a chance to speak to her since he was seized by Immigration Service authorities and rushed out of the country.

Heikkila's attorney, Lloyd E. McMurray, said in San Francisco he would push his efforts to have Immigration officials held in contempt of court for deporting Heikkila. He said the action was taken while the case was still pending in the courts.

He said the decision of Immigration Commissioner Joseph M. Swing to return Heikkila was in effect "an admission of guilt and

Major Crimes at All-Time High

WASHINGTON (UP)—The FBI reported today that major crimes in the United States hit an all-time high last year.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said there were an estimated 2,796,400 major crimes in 1957—one every 11.3 seconds. The figure represented an increase of 233,250 over 1956.

The FBI's Uniform Crime Report for the nation's police departments showed:

—Persons under 18 accounted for 47.2 per cent of the crimes of murder, manslaughter, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto theft.

—Arrest of persons under 18 increased 16 per cent in cities under 25,000 and 8.1 per cent in cities of 25,000 or more.

President Declines to Say Whether He Would Veto Plan if Passed by Congress

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower branded as a dole today a Democratic-sponsored plan for benefits to unemployed workers.

But he declined to tell a news conference whether he would veto the measure if Congress approved. He did say, however, that it has grave defects and would tend to be destructive to the whole system of unemployment insurance benefits as it now exists.

He said that he did not know how the Democratic plan could be handled administratively.

The Democratic plan calls for the federal government to give idle workers 16 weeks of unemployment compensation, whether or not the idled workers are eligible under state unemployment insurance programs.

Need Right Plan
Other news conference highlights:

—He said recent economic statistics indicate that the rate of the business decline is flattening out. But he added he was not going to try to be a Pollyanna and say that everything is lovely.

—He was asked about Democratic charges that the administration is going too slow and lacks courage and boldness in combating the recession. He said his policy was first to determine what was the right thing to do and the right way to do it. Courage and boldness, he added, are fine things if you know you have the right plan. But the U. S. economy is too complicated to follow the dictates of any individual, including the president.

He hotly disputed the charges of congressional critics that his defense reorganization plan could open the way in the future for some individual to take over absolute control of all the armed forces. He made the statement in reply to a question that Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy had conceded Tuesday that the Eisenhower reorganization bill could theoretically strip an individual service chief of command of everything but his aide and orderly.

The President said it would make just as much sense to say that Congress might suddenly go nuts and abolish the whole Defense Department as to say that the individual services ever would be stripped. He said it just was not possible if we are sensible people.

Summit Moves "Puzzling"
—He said that the Russians had been indulging in a lot of overstatement in their charges that U. S. H-bombers were making provocative flights in the direction of Russia. He said all there was to it was that in times like this the bombers had to be gotten off vulnerable fields as a defensive measure when there is a possible alert.

But he added that once they are off they have to get orders before

Alcorn Says Demos Will Continue Control of Senate

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Republican party has conceded Democrats continuing control of the Senate in 1959.

Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn said as much Tuesday. Regarding control of the Senate, Alcorn said, "I don't think it is in the cards for us this time as matters stand now."

The Democratic margin of control in the Senate is 49 to 46, with one vacancy.

Alcorn said, however, that he expects Republicans to win "a bare majority in the House" to provide "a working majority" there. Democrats now control the House by a margin of 232 to 196, with five vacancies.

What Are They Up To?

The recent demise of Russia's dog-carrying Sputnik II leaves the United States with a momentary monopoly on earth satellites.

The question naturally arises:
Why haven't the Russians put up a satellite since Nov. 3, when it was their announced intention to launch a space vehicle each month?

After Laika, the world was prepared for anything—even a rocket to the moon. Yet... nothing.
It is possible, in fact probable, that the Russians have had un-publicized difficulties.

But it is hard to believe that after orbiting two large satellites in a row, they have been stumped for nearly six months—especially in view of the fact that American scientists now estimate the weight of Sputnik II to have been more like 7,000 pounds rather than the Russian-announced 1,120 pounds.

Speculations run anywhere from believing that their recent nuclear tests occupied the full efforts of the Soviets, to the possibility that they may have launched a satellite in secret.

But speculations are no more than that—speculations. The question still remains—why?
"I wish I knew," one top U. S.
space expert has said.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Probe of Oregon Teamster vice gets headlines but not results; 116 indictments bring only one conviction; Senate's star witness gets 20 months.

WASHINGTON. — Sometimes its healthy for the American people to take a look at the aftermaths of Senate investigations. It has now been one year since Senate-inspired headlines smeared Portland, Oregon as the vice capital of the west and made a convicted dopepeddler the hero of Capitol Hill.

Big Jim Elkins, the Portland underworld czar was given free reign before the McClellan rackets committee to make charges against the mayor of Portland, the Teamsters union, and others despite his long criminal record and the fact that the federal psychiatrist at Leavenworth penitentiary had reported March 9, 1939 that Elkins was "evasive and untruthful." Later Dr. Ivor Campbell, a Portland psychiatrist, was to tell a jury that Elkins is a "criminal psycho-path... He will lie at any time if it is to his advantage."

A parade of prostitutes also appeared before the TV cameras in the McClellan committee room, and their word was taken by Counsel Robert Kennedy, brother of the senator from Massachusetts, to besmirch and impugn a long list of Portland officials and Teamster leaders. Seldom have the marble halls of the dignified U. S.
Senate seen so many ladies of the underworld on display.

Following this sensational testimony, a runaway grand jury in Portland indicted right-and-left those named in the McClellan hearing. A total of 116 indictments were handed down by this and other grand juries.

During the testimony, however, this column reported the true record of Big Jim Elkins plus the fact that he had been close to City Councilman Stanley Earl, a "clean-government" witness imported by Kennedy to testify against vice and the Teamsters. I reported that Big Jim Elkins was actually "out to retaliate against the elements that knocked him out of the pinball racket — namely the Teamsters" and that "Big Jim and his friend, Stanley Earl, are using the McClellan hearings as a publicity megaphone to help take control of the city of Portland."

Subsequently, Earl sued for libel.
THE BOX SCORE

In the year that has passed since the sensational Senate headlines, let's see what has happened:

1. Last week, the U. S. Court of Appeals acquitted Frank Brewster, western head of the Teamsters, of congressional contempt before the McClellan committee.

2. Last week a jury in Coos Bay, Ore., found for the Coos Bay World and against Stanley Earl in a suit which involved the truth of the column I wrote one year ago regarding Earl's friendship for Big Jim Elkins.

3. Out of the 116 indictments brought against Portland officials and Teamsters, 88 have been dropped. There has been only one conviction and one plea of guilty. The guilty plea was brought by a prostitute, Marie Maynard, who was fined $250.

The one conviction was that of District Attorney William A. Langley, who attended a Paint Dealer's Association Lingo game for the benefit of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Langley was charged with failure to prosecute the bingo game, was found guilty of a misdemeanor and fined $100.

4. In the six cases that have been tried, Mayor Terry Shunk of Portland was acquitted of the bribery charges aired against him by Elkins. He had suffered great humiliation in Washington. Also acquitted of major charges was Clyde Crosby, Oregon Teamster boss who was pilloried before the Senate committee.

5. On the other side of the Senate probe, Big Jim Elkins was convicted of wire-tapping and got 20 months in federal penitentiary.
His stooge Raymond Clark, who, according to sworn evidence, was on the payroll of the Portland Oregonian, while working for Elkins and while married to a famous madame, Jerry Rogers, was also convicted. Elkins and Clark are now appealing.

6. The runaway grand jury which brought in the flood of indictments, was conducted by erratic Arthur G. Kaplan, who, significantly, ducked out of Portland later to join Senate Counsel Kennedy as his assistant counsel. As such, he pulled a gun while collecting Senate evidence in Detroit.

7. Total cost to the city of Portland for this rash of 116 indictments and only one conviction has been $150,000. Of the 22 remaining indictments, ten are against Elkins.
PULITZER PRIZE

Most interesting aspect of this flash-in-the-pan investigation that fizzled is that the two reporters who stirred up the whole thing, Wallace Turner and William Lambert of the Portland Oregonian, got a Pulitzer Prize for doing so. It now develops that they sold Bob Kennedy the idea of staging the investigation.

Later, when Mayor Shunk was being tried on the spurious Senate charges against him, young Kennedy flew to Portland to lend Senate investigation glamor to the prosecution. He even shook hands with Judge James Crawford in front of the jury, for which Judge Crawford later publicly apologized.
The jury found the mayor of Portland innocent. And last week a Coos Bay jury found the man who would be mayor, Stanley Earl, to be a friend of underworld leader Elkins. Such is the aftermath of some Senate investigations.

Xi Beta Omega Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Meets

Xi Beta Omega chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority met in the home of Mrs. James Gaskins Monday evening.

Mrs. John Molinarolo Jr. presided and following the business of the meeting turned the meeting over to the program chairman, Mrs. Wayne Dixon, for an amusing and challenging quiz on "Thinking." She spoke of the importance of thought in building happiness and based her program on a three subject theme, "Better Thinking," "Creative Thinking" and "Exercises in Thought." The quiz was based on "A Penny for Your Thoughts" and the questions asked were answered with observance of the details of a penny. Mrs. Bill Keen was the winner and received a purse to hold her "Penny saved." Announcements were made of two meetings, the Founders Day meeting to be held in the First Presbyterian church April 28 for all of the chapters of Beta Sigma Phi and the Xi Beta Omega chapter birthday party and installation of officers meeting at the Country Club May 19.

Mrs. Bob Davenport was the assistant hostess and all members were present except two.

Mrs. D. E. Cavender has had with her for two weeks' visit her grandson, Dean Eric, Chicago, and Jodie Rae Cavender, Terre Haute, who also visited Mrs. Minnie Quinn, another grandmother. Dr. Cavender, father of Jodie Ray, was recently elected president of the Notre Dame club in Terre Haute.

March of Youth in Missions Theme of Meeting By W.S.C.S. Senior Unit

The Senior unit of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist church held its monthly meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Alfred Johnson, RFD 4, Harrisburg.

The devotional and lesson material were based on the central theme of "The March of Youth in Missions." Mrs. Ada Reese presented an interesting talk on how the youth can be guided forward in Christian living. Having taught in the public schools for years, she was very sympathetic with the problems of youth.

Mrs. Ruth Peak presented the lesson in the form of a dialogue. Miss Alice Mount helped Mrs. Peak in the presentation. Miss Mount was supposedly writing a letter to a friend, trying to solve her problem after being asked to accept the office of secretary of youth work in the W.S.C.S. As she wrote her letter and confided in her friend, the other side of the questions arising in her mind were explained by the voice of her friend. In this manner pertinent information in regards to the work of the Methodist Youth Fellowship was revealed to their listeners. Counting all the publicized bad things that one reads about youth today, actual accomplishments in local and foreign places were revealed in the dialogue. It showed that youth is on the march in many ways including missionary work. It was announced that a team of college youth, called a caravan, will be in Harrisburg in June to help with the local church's youth.

Mrs. L. B. Kimmel, general chairman of the local W.S.C.S., installed the officers of the Guild in an impressive candle lighting service. Miss Jeannette James was installed as president, Mrs. Lolo Eddy, vice president, Miss Mary Richardson, recording secretary, Mrs. Mary Lois Dabney, treasurer and Mrs. Dorothy Wharton, promotion secretary. The installation closed with officers and chairmen singing the Guild hymn.

Refreshments were served to the twenty-one members and guest by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Mabel Pankey and Mrs. Wilma Gidcomb.

Polio Foundation Receives Citation; Praises Chapter

A. M. Hetherington, Saline county chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, has received from the Foundation a citation it has received from the Association of American Medical Colleges and the National Fund for Medical Education. The citation commends the Foundation as an organization for its contribution to medical education.

The Foundation stressed that everything it has done in polio medical research has been made possible by the work of the various chapters and volunteer workers in the annual March of Dimes.

"The additional hands and minds which have been added to our army of medical workers, both in research and in patient care, could never have been provided without the necessary funds, nor could the heightened awareness of the need for filling personnel shortages have come about without your efforts in calling the attention of your community to the urgency of the problem," the Foundation stated.

Predict Higher Farm Income

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted today 1958 net farm income will increase 5 to 10 per cent above last year.

Higher cash marketings and increased soil bank participation will lead to the higher returns, which in 1957 totaled $11,500,000,000.

Some increase in production expenses were expected to "only partly" offset the higher income, the department said in its publication, "The Farm Income Situation." Feeder livestock and such overhead costs as interest and taxes were cited as heavy production expenses.

Congress Ready To Give Rails Financial Help

Rail Spokesman Disappointed at Weeks' Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress appeared ready today to give some form of financial help to the nation's railroads.

The administration Tuesday asked Congress to prop the financially hard-up railroads with a 700-million-dollar loan program.

Recommendations came from Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks in a letter to a Senate Commerce subcommittee. Congressional reaction was mixed but most legislators agreed some form of assistance appeared likely.

A railroad spokesman called Weeks' remedies "distinctly disappointing." Daniel P. Loomis, president of the Association of American Railroads, said it "fails to deal with many of the difficulties in the railroad situation, and treats inadequately most of those with which it does deal."

Repeal Freight Tax

Loomis said the proposal for temporary financial assistance "offers no immediate practical help" and the program in general falls "short of placing the railroad industry in a fair competitive position."

There was strong congressional support for one form of relief not covered in Weeks' recommendations—repeal of the 10 per cent tax on personal transportation and the 3 per cent tax on freight.

Weeks proposed that the government guarantee short term private loans up to a total of 500 million dollars to permit railroads to make cost-saving improvements of plant and equipment other than rolling stock. Another 200 million dollars in government guarantees would be available for purchase of better freight cars.

Other points in the administration's five-part program:—Giving the Interstate Commerce Commission, rather than state regulatory bodies, full power to let railroads discontinue unprofitable services.

—Greater ICC authority to regulate so-called private carriers to prevent unfair competition with certificated public carriers.

—Tighter definition of the special exemption now provided for agricultural commodities.

—Revision of federal rate-making policies "to encourage more service and price competition with adequate minimum regulation."

House Rejects Oleo for Navy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy will be eating butter rather than oleomargarine for the foreseeable future, if the House has its way.

The House Tuesday amended by a 207-161 vote a measure that would have permitted the Navy to include oleomargarine in its rations just as the Army and Air Force do.

Under the amendment, oleo could be used by the Navy only in the unlikely event that the government gets rid of its huge stocks of surplus butter.

The bill now goes to the Senate for action.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

HINDSIGHT should be a guide to foresight. It should not be a "postmortem" of our failures and our mistakes. Anger and sorrow are of no value if they do not motivate us to plan the future in such manner that we avoid the errors of the past.

Worrying over the "ifs" of yesterday will not pick up the spilled milk. It will not rebuild the broken fences, nor will it replace the smashed or bent materials which we wrecked in our mistaken ways of days gone by.

We must plan our endeavors for the present and tomorrow so that our new experiences are not repetitions of the past. All our plans must include combinations of the material, the mental and the spiritual. We must direct our activities with the energy of love, the assurance of faith, the desire to serve and the hope of eternity.

Maine Death Benefits

PORTLAND Me. — (UP) — Maine families received $11,695,000 during 1957 in death benefits from their life insurance companies, the Institute of Life Insurance reported. The 1957 death payments compared with $11,112,000 the year before under 7,941 policies.

MRS. LOUISE McNAB, case work supervisor of the Saline County Welfare Department, and Mrs. Irene Arnold of West Frankfort, district representative, at meeting held Tuesday at the Anna State hospital.

Stress Return of Mental Patients To Communities

Importance of getting patients from the mental hospitals back into the community was stressed at an all-day meeting for county and regional representatives of the Illinois Public Aid Commission at the Anna State hospital Tuesday.

Dr. R. C. Steck, superintendent of the Anna State hospital, in his opening remarks to the group pointed out that the county departments of the Illinois Public Aid Commission are vital links in any co-operative endeavor between the hospital and the community in returning patients to the community. He noted that in addition to the therapeutic aid given to the individual, the community itself profits in many ways. For example, he said that if the person becomes a recipient of financial assistance from the Illinois Public Aid Commission, then the individual spends money in the community.

"It is essential that patients who return to the community to use same dosage of medicine prescribed by the medical officers of the hospital," Dr. Leonard Horrecker, Assistant Superintendent and Clinical Director of the hospital, warned the group. He added that too frequently the patient decreases the dosage and then is forced to return to the hospital. He also explained the classification of patients at the hospital.

Other aspects of the program included a discussion of the program of the social services department, including such topics as admission policies, discharge, family care and clinics. Miss Nancy Strickland, Chief Social Worker at the hospital, headed a panel of social workers giving this information. Kenneth Atkins, business manager at the hospital, explained legal and technical aspects of conservatorship. This program, the first of a series of such meetings, was arranged by Mrs. Annette Calloway, Chief of Social Service in Institutions, State Department of Public Welfare. Those attending from Saline county were Mrs. Irene Arnold, acting county superintendent and Miss Louise McNab, case work supervisor. Mrs. Ruth Stunson, who also planned to attend was unable to.

HE spoke slowly, as if he'd been waiting all day for a good listener. "Miss Henderson is wrong. What we are doing is not criminal. Let me ask you this: suppose tomorrow you hit upon a new soft drink that sweeps the country. You can make this sugar water for a penny, market it for two cents and thus make a neat profit. However since you control it, if you find you can sell it for 10 cents, make a 900 per cent profit, which would you do?"

"Sell it for a dime, Mr. Wren. All this talk isn't getting us away from Parker and why you didn't come to the police."

"On the contrary, if I can make you understand that Miss Henderson is a crackpot, out to make her own type of fast dollar, then you can understand why I had to pay off Mr. Parker. I had a business deal with a man, weeks later he is shot. That obviously had nothing to do with me. Once I paid off, I was done with the matter, I never saw him again."

"There are three other concerns in this, do they all . . . ?" "I handled this myself."

"Why?" "When lit his pipe again. 'A good question, I met up with this former cop, I made the deal. When it turned sour I took full and sole responsibility. There's also the matter of pride. I didn't want the others to know I'd been taken in.'"

"So you shelled out four grand, just like that?"

"See here, Detective Wintino, I resent this questioning, as though I was a suspect or something. You're making a mountain out of a mole hill."

"I never said you were a suspect, and a dead man isn't a molehill. I'm asking you these questions because it may lead to somebody, and so on, until we hit the right one."

"Then I can be of little help. We first met at some bar on Sixth Avenue, I don't remember exactly. I dropped in for a quick beer and we started talking about some show on the TV."

That was around the middle of March. After our first meeting, due to the nature of our business, we thought it best to meet on the street, usually at the corner of Fifty-fourth Street and . . . As you can see all this has nothing to do with any shooting and it would be darn embarrassing to say the least, if it came to light. If I'm not involved don't drag me in."

"That isn't up to me to decide."

"I believe you said you're doing this on your own time. Same situation when you invaded the Data office. I don't know what you fancy yourself, but common sense has to be a factor in things too. I once had a minor business deal with a man later found dead. That's all there is to it. Period."

"THIS isn't exactly my own time, a cop is on duty 24 hours. A retired cop has been killed; we're not leaving anything to chance."

"You're a very young man, Detective Wintino, and you must be very capable to have risen so high at your age. But as you grow older, get to be an old coot like me, you'll find there's one basic rule to life—live and let live. I've given you all I know."

I stood up. "No need to worry if the department should call you in for further questioning, that doesn't mean the papers will get wind of it. As for Miss Henderson, just keep your dealings with her on a business level—not on a goon level."

Wren got to his feet. "I know when I'm licked. She can publish her yarn and the devil with it. We can get around that. Sorry if I sounded as if I was throwing my weight around, but you must understand my position. The publicity of an article can be handled, but a scandal, being even publicly questioned about a killing—my business would be ruined." He took off his glasses, rubbed his eyes. "I'm under a strain, this new wiring method Miss Henderson must have told you about it. I've been going 15 and 16 hours a day. That's why I lost my temper before. Well, hope I've been of some help." He held out his hand.

I shook it. "At least we know where Ed Owens got the four grand from."

Wren's tan face went ashen, his eyes seemed to pop, get as large as if he had his glasses on. Then he began coughing as he bent over, kneading his belly with his stubby hands.

"What's the matter?" I asked, stepping back in case he was about to be sick. "Need a pill? water?"

HE shook his head and slowly straightened up, ran a crumpled handkerchief over his sweaty face. He whispered, "Excuse me. These quickie lunches—had a gas pain that seemed to stab at my heart. Thought I was going to faint."

"Ought to have a check-up."

"Yes, I'm past due. Now, what were you saying about Owens?"

"That we now know how and where Owens got the money, the reason for the false name in the bank. Another piece that may fit into a bigger picture, one of two murders." I pulled out the newspaper pictures. "This your Mr. Parker?"

Wren pointed to Owens' snap.

Podres Hurls Dodgers to Win Over Cubs; Cardinals Whip Giants, 7 to 5

New York Yankees Wallop Red Sox for 6th Straight Victory

By United Press

It's taken Johnny Podres, once the toast of Brooklyn, just a week to become the Dodgers' No. 1 hero 3,000 miles away in their new Los Angeles home.

The World Series hero of 1955 pitched the Dodgers to their first victory of the season April 16, and Tuesday night was the winning hurler as they downed the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, in the first major league arc-lighter ever played in Los Angeles. Podres retired with a sore elbow after 6 1-3 innings but gained credit for his second straight win.

In the bargain, he also demonstrated that a good pitcher—even a left-hander—can overcome the hazard of the Coliseum's trick 250-foot left field fence. The Cubs loaded their lineup with six right-handed hitters but Podres pitched no-hit ball for five innings before Ernie Banks hit a two-run homer in the sixth.

Cumulative Hitting

Gino Cimoli, a native of San Francisco, sent the Dodgers off in front with a two-run homer in the first inning and they added single tallies in the second and sixth. Glen Hobbie, $50,000 bonus right-hander, was knocked out in an inning and two-thirds and suffered the defeat.

At San Francisco, meanwhile, the St. Louis Cardinals prevented San Francisco from taking over first place in the National League when they whipped the Giants, 7-5. Del Ennis knocked in three runs, two with a homer, and Stan Musial lashed out three hits to lift his average to .464. Lindy McDaniel got credit for the win while Johnny Antonelli was charged with the defeat.

A three-run homer by Hank Aaron enabled the Milwaukee Braves to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-2, in the other National League game. Cincinnati and Philadelphia were idle.

Sixth Straight

In the American League, the runaway New York Yankees swept to their sixth straight victory when they walloped the Boston Red Sox, 12-7, the Detroit Tigers dealt the Chicago White Sox their third straight loss, 8-2, the Kansas City Athletics out-slugged the Cleveland Indians, 9-6, and the Baltimore Orioles beat the Washington Senators, 4-2.

Aaron, who hit 44 homers last season, bashed his second of this year in the fourth inning after Ron Kline walked Bob Hazle and Ed Mathews singled. Bob Buhl, coming back nicely after his 1957 World Series failures, was tapped for 10 hits but gained his second win. The Braves, who led the majors in homers last year, have hit 10 to account for 20 of the 25 runs they've tallied this season.

Gil McDougald hit a two-run homer and Bobby Richardson, Hank Bauer and Andy Carey all tripled during a seven-run fourth-inning rally that wrapped up the Yankees' seventh victory in eight games. Tom Sturdivant went 8 1-3 innings and Ryne Duren retired the last two batters in the ninth as the Red Sox lost their fifth straight game. Ted Williams went 1-for-2 to lift his average from .167 to .214.

run, round-tripper. Ned Garver got credit for his second win although kayoed in 6 1-3 innings while Bob Lemon, attempting a comeback for the Indians, was clouted for five hits and two runs in one frame.

Brooks Robinson's three hits paced the Orioles, who got four-hit pitching from Jack Harshman for seven innings and protected the lead by bringing bonus boy Billy O'Dell out of the bullpen. Rookie Ralph Lumenti started for the Senators and yielded eight walks and two hits in 3 2-3 innings.

Bull Dogs Beat Pope County, 8-1, For Fourth Win

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs baseball nine won its fourth straight contest against no defeats yesterday afternoon by defeating Pope County high school from Glebeville, 8 to 1, at VFW Field.

Ira Logan allowed but three hits in hurling his second victory, but had a wild first inning in allowing the first run made against the Bull Dogs this season. In the initial frame Pope County made its tally on a walk, an error, a hit batsman and a fielder's choice.

Logan walked five and struck out eight in the contest.

S. Bogus and King hurled for Pope County and the Bull Dogs got ten hits. Bogus walked five, struck out four, and King walked one and fanned one.

Coach John Dotson used 13 players. The players and the number of hits they got:

Stricklin rf 0, Syers cf 2, Stone 2b 1, J. Pickford c 0, Pavelonis ss 1, Maynard 3b 0, Yarker cf 2, Hassett c and rf 2, D. Pickford 1b 0, Nelson 1b 0, Aldridge lf 1, Wathen lf 0, Logan p 1.

Dotson announced that he has scheduled two contests with August Tigheham of Paducah. First game will be in Brooks Stadium, which was the home of the Paducah Chiefs, Friday at 3:45 p. m. The return tilt will be a night game at VFW park May 2.

Downstate Fisherman's Guide

Writer Reports Large Bass Catch

By Pete Brown

(From reports by the Southern Illinois University Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation).

Most fishing writers yearn for the time when they can shuffle off the coils of professional modesty and bang out a lyrical sentence or two about their own accomplishments. That few of them do—outside of magazines—may be either a tribute to their unyielding standards or testimony to the fact that you can't land fish sitting at a typewriter.

At any rate, editorial integrity compels the author to report the catch of a seven pound, one ounce largemouth while doing some field research for this column. The place was the Carbondale city reservoir, the day was April 20 and the bait was a black and white Bomber. There have been bigger ones caught out there but as far as we can tell, no bass that size have been reeled in yet this spring.

So much for personal horn blowing and into the wastebasket with a word-for-the-day that had become a taunt: "They also serve who only stand and cast."

A week-end roundup of top fishing locations:

LITTLE GRASSY LAKE — A slight drop in the bass run was reflected in a low fish-per-man average over the April 19-20 week-end. Ed Rehn of Evansville, Ind., brought in a seven pounder (Bomber) Sunday, Bob Toler of Carbondale hooked a seven pounder Thursday (April 17) and Lloyd Lippe, Freeburg, took three totaling 19 pounds Friday, for the week's best catches. Other big ones: Hank Holland, Carbondale, a six and one-half and five and one-half pounder (Helldiver); Arman Feignbutz, East St. Louis, six pounds (Helldiver); E. DuMont, hometown unknown, six pounds (Lazy Ike); Hugo Hutzler, Herrin, five and a quarter pounder (Bomber), and George Rose, Benton, a 14-pound string of three. Grassy is dingy but clearing. Dock Operator Julius Swayne thinks a proven pattern of good mid-week fishing will repeat itself this year.

CRAB ORCHARD LAKE — The hard working pluggers are still catching good sized bass in the Cambria necks and near the reeds around the lake. Crappie fishing has been good in the north end near the route 13 bridges. Spotty catches elsewhere but many of the individual fish are tipping in at 12 ounces to a pound. The lake

88 College Cage Stars Drafted By Pro Squads

DETROIT — Frank McGuire raided the New York high schools for his 1957 NCAA champion North Carolina Tarheels but the New York Knickerbockers have brought two of McGuire's best home again.

The Knicks took nine players in Tuesday's National Basketball Association draft, four of them former New York prep stars who went away to gain college fame.

The eight NBA teams plucked a record 88 collegians but the Knicks were satisfied with only nine, two over the Boston Celtics who were the lowest and Syracuse took eight. Boston, because it had the best number of victories versus defeats, was last in every round.

Surprisingly, the world champion St. Louis Hawks grabbed 12 players a number exceeded only by Cincinnati which took 17.

Pete Brennan, 6 feet, 6 inches, and Joe Quigg, 6 feet, 8 inches, both of former New Yorker Frank McGuire's North Carolina squad, were the Knicks' first two picks in their own turn. They also selected 6-foot, 7-inch defensive ace Mike Farmer of San Francisco on the first round, having acquired the spot when they traded Dick

The McLeansboro City Park Reservoir, a good bass spot last year, has yielded some fine catches this spring. Jerry Ferguson, a 17-year-old high school student, landed a 7-pounder on an artificial red worm. Paul Lakin fished a Sonic to pick up one at six and one-half and another at four and one-half pounds.

McGuire to Detroit last year. Six-foot, 3-inch John Lee of Yale and 6-foot Don Lee of Dayton were the other two hometown boys taken by the Knicks whose Ned Irish also saw another Irishman, John McCarthy of Notre Dame, selected by New York.

Elgin Baylor, generally accorded the best of the draft eligibles was taken by Minneapolis after all but Philadelphia declined territorial choices. The Warriors picked 6 foot Guy Rogers of Temple.

U.S. Indonesia Neutrality
Draws Fire From All Sides

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Let trouble arise any place on earth these days—the United States will find itself slap dab in the middle of it.

That holds true particularly in the revolt now flaring in Sumatra, largest of the 3,000 islands in Indonesia, 8,000 miles from San Francisco in the South Pacific.

While pursuing an official "hands off" policy, the United States is caught on a three-cornered spot, with the outcome completely unclear. Occupying the three corners are the Indonesian government, the rebels who want to overthrow or at least reform it and the government of the Netherlands which formerly controlled Indonesia as a colony.

By refusing to take sides and declining to do what any of the principals want, the United States seems to have made them all sore. But what else is there to do?

UNITED STATES COMPANIES—principally oil and rubber producers—have a 300 to 400 million-dollar investment in Indonesia. Trade with the U. S., including tin, spices and drugs, has been around 100 million dollars a year.

This isn't big in the U. S. total. But it's a sixth of Indonesia's foreign commerce and important to the islands.

Indonesia is also important to the U. S. from a strategic standpoint. The islands cover an expanse of ocean as large as the United States. They lie right in the middle of Southeast Asia defense lines running from the Philippines, Vietnam, Thailand and Malaya to Australia and New Zealand.

Let Indonesia swing into the Communist bloc orbit and that line would be broken, perhaps irreparably.

FOR ALL THESE REASONS both the U. S. government and American business executives in Indonesia have been leaning over backward to maintain neutrality while Indonesia has struggled to establish its new independence from the Dutch.

There is no denying that the U. S. government has not been too happy over some policies of Indonesian President Sukarno. He is admittedly the George Washington of his country. He has visited both the United States and Russia. But he leans a little too much toward the left.

Sukarno has considerable opposition to this collaboration with Communists in his own country. That is what the present revolt is all about. It is led by Indonesian army officers who are trying to hold Sumatra until such time as Sukarno reforms his government along more democratic lines.

Unless the rebel forces can get arms, they are probably fighting an uphill war. Indonesian Communists have charged that former U. S. Ambassador John Allison tried to get arms for the Sumatra rebels. But even Indonesian government officials have gone out of their way to refute this.

IT WOULD, OF COURSE, BE SILLY for the United States to arm the rebels against a government it recognized. For if such aid were given and if the rebel cause failed, American property in Indonesia would be subject to confiscation.

This is approximately what has happened to perhaps a billion dollars' worth of Dutch property in Indonesia. It has now been taken into "protective custody" by Indonesia.

Still to be resolved is the question whether the Dutch will keep West New Guinea, or be forced to turn it over to Indonesia. The United States has tried to maintain a neutral position on this dispute, too. In so doing it has angered both the Indonesians and the Dutch.
